The final day of the Jim Larranaga Senior Elite Classic saw excitement all the way until the championship game

October 14, 2012

MIAMI, FL. - On the final day of the Jim Larranaga Senior Elite Classic, breakfast was provided for the campers at the BankUnited Center. Trainers were also available before the quarterfinals took place at the Fieldhouse.

Maryland beat North Carolina 67-61, with Peter Smul leading with 20 points on top of also breaking his nose. Virginia beat Boston College 54-48 where John Rice scored 16 points.

In the Final Four, Virginia's momentum continued as they beat Duke 56-43. On the other court, Maryland beat Miami 47-40. Benny Fragela on Team Miami scored 18 points along with nine rebounds.

In the championship game, Maryland beat Virginia 51-41 in a match-up that was close the entire game. Gregg Darbyshire won MVP and scored 23 points in the final game. Maryland was given awards and championship t-shirts and they also cut down the nets while "One Shining Moment" played throughout the arena.
